

Patriotism

Christopher R. Bollinger

It's easy to put an American Flag on your web site (or your car, or wear a shirt, or whatever). I believe that patriotism is the support of our constitution and our form of government. Central to our Representative form of government is a participatory population. Participation includes voting and staying informed and educated about important issues. In 2000, there were 205 million Americans who were of voting age, 105 million (51%) of them voted on November 7. How many of them do you think really voted based on a careful and thoughtful consideration of the issues? How many that didn't vote now have Flags pasted all over their cars?
