

Ann M. Eike, Ph.D.

e-mail: aeike@uky.edu

S u m m a r y

Over ten years of experience as an academic economist. More than ten years of experience in regional policy analysis at three levels of government. Project management experience for economic studies.

E d u c a t i o n

University of Missouri-Columbia

Columbia, Missouri

Ph.D. and M.A. (Economics), 1982; 1974. Fields of concentration: Human Capital and Labor Markets, Industrial Organization and Public Policy, Microeconomics, and Economic Education.

Oregon State University

Corvallis, Oregon

B.S. (Economics), 1971. Also attended Antioch College and University of Southampton (England).

E m p l o y m e n t

University of Kentucky

2003 to Present

Lexington, KY

Lecturer, Department of Economics

Teaching Principles of Microeconomics and Contemporary Economic Issues..

Louisiana State University

2001 to 2003

Baton Rouge, Louisiana

Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Economics

Taught introductory Micro and Macro principles courses and Intermediate Microeconomics.

Coordinator for the principles course supervising four instructors.

Consulting Economist

2000-2001

Portland, Oregon

Prepared report for the Port of Jacksonville, FL on the advantages and disadvantages of operating an airport and seaport under one port authority.

Port of Portland

1993-2000

Portland, Oregon

Corporate Economist. Research and Market Information

Advised senior management and the operating departments by monitoring, collecting and analyzing information about the transportation industry, world trade, and regional trade.

Analyzed and reported the economic impacts of activities supported by the Port of Portland on jobs and income in the Portland metropolitan region.

Developed and maintained contacts and coordinated research efforts with economists and planners from public and private agencies, businesses, and universities.

Directed economic analysis consultants on contracts with the Port. Served as the technical project manager for the study: Breaching the Four Snake River Dams: Transportation Impacts on Oregon.

Served on various technical and advisory committees with the Corps of Engineers, National Marine Fisheries Service, Metro (Portland area regional planning organization), Northwest Power Planning Council, the Institute of Portland Metropolitan Studies at Portland State University, Portland State University Transportation Research Group, and Oregon Department of Transportation.

Oregon Department of Transportation

1991-1993

Salem, Oregon

Senior Analyst/Economist. Policy and Strategic Planning Section

Prepared and directed economic analyses, forecasting, transportation research, and other quantitative analysis. Produced, maintained, and monitored long range demographic and economic projections. Evaluated and recommended revisions to department policies based on these projections. Produced the 1992 and 1993 Demographic and Economic Forecast study. The information in this document was used extensively in the preparation of the Oregon Transportation Plan, a forty year plan for transportation in Oregon.

Represented the Department on the intergovernmental committee directing the biennial Oregon Population Survey.

Created and implemented new executive information system projects that used transportation and economic models and theories combined with the computerized digital mapping environment of a Geographical Information System (GIS).

U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Portland District

1989 - 1991

Portland, Oregon

Regional Economist

Prepared economic analyses for studies involving estimation of incremental (marginal) benefit/cost analysis of mitigation activities and estimating opportunity cost of time for commercial fisherman.

Developed materials for the solicitation and evaluation of bids for contracts to perform economic studies.

Produced 50-year life-cycle cost estimates with an interdisciplinary study team for alternative methods of maintaining the navigation channel on the Lower Columbia River.

Mt. Hood Community College

1988-1990

Gresham, Oregon

Instructor in Economics

Taught three terms and a summer session of a principles of economics.

Linfield College

1988-1991

McMinnville, Oregon

Marylhurst College

Marylhurst, Oregon

Adjunct Professor of Economics

Developed and taught micro-macro principles course; and microeconomics extension courses in Portland, Eugene, and Salem for Linfield College, DCE 1988, 1990, and 1991.

Designed and taught two courses in microeconomics and macroeconomics principles for a one-quarter course and two three-weekend college courses for Marylhurst College. 1988.

Illinois State University
Normal, Illinois

1982-1986 and 1977-1981

Assistant Professor of Economics and Interdisciplinary Studies.

Developed and taught courses in microeconomics, macroeconomics, labor economics, and an interdisciplinary Western Civilization course for undergraduates. Part-time adviser to business students and administrator of the General Studies degree program, Academic Advisement Center, ISU (1984-1985). Presented and published research. Directed some masters' theses research on economics and the arts.

University of Missouri-Columbia
Columbia, Missouri

1981-1982

Research Associate.

Assisted in the Business and Public Administration Research Center. Prepared data for use in the econometric model of Missouri. Part-time while finishing dissertation.

P u b l i c a t i o n s   a n d   P r e s e n t a t i o n s

1995 Pacific Rim TransTech Conference, Seattle, WA, Commodity Flow Analysis and Freight Planning in the Portland Metropolitan Area with Susie Lahsene, August 1995.

Invited papers presented on Estimation of the Value of Leisure Time in Cost /Benefit Analysis at the Midwest Economics Association meetings, 1991 and the Western Economics Association meetings, 1991.

The Impact of Changing Technology on the London Publishing Industry 1800-1870, Artists and Cultural Consumers, Vol. III, Proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Cultural Economics and Planning, Association for Cultural Economics, 1987.

An Investigation of the Market for Paperback Romance Novels, Journal of Cultural Economics, May 1986.

Comment: Financing Orchestras and Comment: Empirical Analysis of Museums, Managerial Economics for the Arts, Association for Cultural Economics, 1985.

Invited paper, American Economics Association Annual meetings, Dallas, TX, The Principles Course: The Relationship between Cognitive Gain and Affective Change toward Economic Issues with Bernard J. McCarney, 1984.

University Presses and Recent Economic Instability, The Economics of Cultural Industries, Association for Cultural Economics, 1984.

P r o f e s s i o n a l   m e m b e r s h i p s

Member of the (Oregon) Governor's Council of Economic Advisors, 1995-2001.

Member of the Oregon Shines II Task Force, 1996.

National Association for Business Economics (NABE), Portland chapter Past President, 1995. Oregon Council on Economic Education, Board member.

Pacific Northwest Regional Economics Conference, Board member.

Member of the Independent Economic Advisory Board selection team for the Northwest Power Planning Council, 2000.

A w a r d s   r e c e i v e d

Omicron Delta Epsilon Teacher of the Year Award, Illinois State University. 1984-1985.

Outstanding Teaching Assistant Award, University of Missouri Columbia. 1973-1974.

University Graduate Fellowship, University of Missouri-Columbia, 1971-1973.