

A Strategic Reset of the Supply Chain

PLANNING PANEL

DEREK BROWNING

Director of Operations at Transplace

Derek Browning is the Director of Operations for Transplace. He leads a portfolio of projects for Transplace, an Uber Freight Company. With over 17 years working in logistics and supply chain, he has gained extensive project experience in Lean, Six-Sigma, Operational Excellence, Supply Chain Management, and so much more. His background also includes teaching students and professionals. Derek holds a Master of Business Administration degree, and a bachelor's degree in marketing, in addition, a multitude of certifications.

PLANNING PANEL

DEBBIE CLIMER

Global Integrated Business Planning Director at Cummins Inc.

I am experienced in leading and deploying IBP in a variety of different businesses in multiple regions around the globe. Accountable for IBP education, delivery of workshops, audits, coaching of teams, and leading reviews. With this experience, I have encountered many adversities that come with implementation and have accumulated a long list of common potential failure modes and how to resolve or avoid them altogether. Twenty-one years at Cummins Inc. variety of roles from manufacturing operations, quality, auditing and IBP. MBA from Ball State University focused on finance. BS in business from Kelley School of business IU.

STAFFING PANEL

JAKE BARR

CEO/Principal at BlueWorld Supply Chain Consulting

---

An acknowledged industry supply chain evangelist, Jake now serves as CEO for BlueWorld Supply Chain Consulting, following three decades of supply chain leadership experience at Procter & Gamble. BlueWorld provides support to a cross section of Fortune 500 companies, while also engaged in public health sector work with the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. At P&G, he led the design and delivery of an E2E (End to End) Planning Transformation creating control towers which now manage P&G's business. He is recognized as the architect for P&G's revolutionary demand driven supply chain strategy. He has experience in building supply networks across every region of the world.

---

ERIC WILSON

Director of Thought Leadership for Institute of Business Forecasting (IBF)

---

Eric Wilson is the Director of Thought Leadership for Institute of Business Forecasting (IBF), the world's largest professional membership organization representing and fostering the growth in Business Forecasting, Demand Planning, Predictive Analytics, and Sales & Operations Planning. Eric has over 20 years' experience and is considered a visionary in his field both as a practitioner for various industries and organizations and for his research. He is the author of the book Predictive Analytics for Business Forecasting, an International Public Speaker, Certified Professional Businesses Forecaster (CPF), Recipient of the Excellence in Business Forecasting & Planning Award, and innovator and Influencer in his field.